

Dorothy Day

New Republic, 122 (January 9, 1950): 15-16.

Summary: Describes the power struggles involved in the politics of the National Maritime union. Gives a brief history of its difficulties in the past and Joe Curran's shrewdness and power to oust any forces opposing his administration. (DDLW #18).